C⁴ Veterinary Careers instructor Amanda Rogers shared this statement with her students: “Often overlooked are the effects that this kind of issue [COVID – 19 pandemic] has on pets. I want to take this week to research the results of the current situation and what we, as a class, can do to help ease the effects on our local shelters and veterinary hospitals.”

Rogers challenged her students to bring in donations and they answered! Pictured above left are the donations, delivered to the Bartholomew County Humane Society on Monday. Top left center, North Decatur junior Taylor Phelps is excited about the donations she is contributed. Above center right, Hauser senior Macie Hill holds a thank you card and the contribution of a gracious donor. Above right, more donations of food and dewormer were coordinated by Columbus North senior Riley Eder, with the generous assistance of Hope Veterinary Clinic.
